

Prime Fur Periods in North Dakota

The following chart shows the approximate periods of prime fur in North Dakota.

- Most species are acceptably prime before full primeness is attained.
- The color and hair quality is actually best before the skin is fully prime.
- Age, health and habitat directly influence fur quality.
- Quality declines rapidly after full primeness.

