

The following checklist includes 376 species of birds that are possible to see in North Dakota. Of these, 216 species nest or have nested in the state, and 15 species can be considered inferred nesters, for a total of 231 breeding birds. There are 50 species which are considered "accidental" and are not likely to occur in the state again, or may occur infrequently. Species designated with an asterisk have not formally been added to the state list, but have been sighted more regularly in recent years.
